

Skymark Packaging has successfully grown to become one of the leading independent Flexible Packaging Manufacturers in Europe. We know that as part of our manufacturing process, we utilise many potentially hazardous chemicals and substances. It is for this reason that we take great care during the manufacturing and storage of our materials to ensure we meet all our applicable compliance obligations. We pay a lot of attention to detail when we handle these substances to ensure that we do not cause any adverse impacts on our workforce, the nearer community, the local ecosystem and the global environment. We have achieved this by being considerate to our environment and embracing carefully constructed, documented, safe and reliable methods of work to minimise or eliminate adverse impacts. We strive to continually improve our environmental management system and our environmental performance by adhering to our policies and implementing best practice wherever we can.

Our impact on the environment

- Procurement of Hazardous materials, such as Inks, Solvents and other associated Chemicals
- Consumption of Utilities (gas, electricity and water)
- Use of natural and other resources and consumables, such as Paper, Wood, Plastic and Fluorinated Greenhouse gasses
- Installation and maintenance of equipment and critical abatement plant, as well as any subsequent generation of VOC emissions (both residual and fugitive)
- Hazardous, non-hazardous and electrical waste generation, storage and disposal
- Transport to and from site(s)

Our strategy

- We ensure we are aware of and comply with applicable compliance obligations
- We aim to minimise waste and pollution at source by implementing the waste hierarchy and evaluating operations to ensure they are as lean, efficient and ecologically friendly as possible
- We use closed loop systems to recycle as much of our own plastic waste as we possibly can
- We are committed to operate well within our overall emissions levels of VOC's by continually reviewing processes and cleaning activities
- We store, handle and dispose of all hazardous materials safely and under control
- We will periodically review our systems and set relevant environmental objectives and targets to continually improve our environmental performance

Our employees, suppliers and partners are crucial to the success of achieving our environmental objectives. We therefore ensure that this policy is available to, understood by and implemented by all interested parties.
